Tribute to Late Mrs. Everett Kimball—The Week's News
of the Town. 1918

Littleton, June 21.
Wallace Robinson has negotiated with N. L. Wetherbee of Boxboro for an exchange of property. Mr. Robinson exchanges his residence at the Common for Mr. Wetherbee's farm, and hopes soon to be tilling his acres in Boxboro.

The community was bowed with grief to learn of Mrs. Everett Kimball's death on Saturday. She had been ailing for many months, and at times seemed much improved in health, but it proved to be only temporary. For a week she had taken very little nourishment and on Friday she seemed much weaker. There seemed little to encourage the family, and at 3 o'clock on June 15 she passed on peacefully.

Funeral services were held from her home Tuesday afternoon, her pastor, Rev. H. L. Caulkins officiating and paying her a worthy and beautiful tribute.

The King's Daughters sat together near the precious form of their leader in years past and on the sides of the room on and around the casket, were choice floral tributes in wonderful profusion.

Burial was in the family lot at Westlawn. Mr. Kimball's three brothers, George A., H. Elmer, Frank M., and the brother-in-law, Henry J. Couper, acting as bearers.

Mrs. Kimball, who was Miss Alice Chamberlain, was born in Clinton, but subsequently lived in Nashua, N. H., and North Dana. When she was a young girl she lost both parents and at fourteen she came to Littleton which has ever since been her home.

April 30, 1891 she was married to Everett Kimball of this town. This union was blessed with six children, Gladys, Katherine, Evelyn, Mary, Foster and Allan, who, with the husband and a brother, E. F. Chamberlain, survive the deceased.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Kimball were very delightfully surprised by their friends of the Baptist church who helped celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

At 20 years of age Mrs. Kimball was received into fellowship with members of the Baptist church. Her interest in all the church organizations found eloquent expression in her remarkable service. She most loyally supported the church, the Sunday school, the Christian Endeavor Society and the Missionary and Benevolent Society. Untiringly she worked to help pay off the church debt and it gave her genuine satisfaction and pride when the object was achieved. Mrs. Kimball was an interested member of the Woman's Club, and she became affiliated with other uplifting organizations, but no one received a more loyal and devoted service than the King's Daughters, of which she was president a number of terms.

Although she was a zealous worker for outside interests, Mrs. Kimball gave to her family and the home, most devoted attention and care. For her children she entertained high ambitions and inspired and encouraged them to large attainments.

She was a friend to everybody and opened her hospitable home to young and old alike.

Her thought for others transcended her care for herself, and, forgetful of her own needs, she sought constantly to help somebody else. Her abundant good cheer was contagious. Even in her sickness she thought of others and sought to brighten their lives through every avenue within her reach.

Mrs. Kimball filled a large space in church, society, home and neighborhood. She was widely beloved and will be missed and mourned by all who knew her.
